BRYAN ON ETHICS OF BOLTING.

On Page 125 of "The First Battle," William Jennings Bryan says, regarding abandonment of Party temporarily:

"Difference of opinion upon the questions that are for the time being paramount, always has destroyed, always will destroy, all ways should destroy party harmony. If abandonment of party is ever justifiable, the voter must determine for himself when the time of abandonment arrives. When should he decide? The proper time, if not the only time, is after the party has adopted its platform and named its candidates. Until that time he does not know whether he can rely on it to secure the government which he regards as good and the legislation which he considers necessary."

"Does participation in a primary or convention bind the voter to support a party which he considers ruinous? If he tries through his party organizations to save his country and fails, must he then take a hand in its destruction? If great questions arise, must he assume that his party will go wrong and therefore leave it before it acts? Or should he try to hold his party to its right course? I recognize the right of all democrats to a voice in the deliberations of the party with the reserved right to abandon the party whenever it abandons the course of the people."

Robert F. Love, our fellow townman and merchant, has received the nomination for representative by a large majority. He did not announce until late in the campaign but made a good race.

TAKE CARDUI The Women's Tonic

Mrs. Jane Callahan suffered from womanly troubles for nearly ten years. In a letter from Whiteville, N. C., she says: "I was not able to do my own housework. My stomach was weak, and my blood was wrong. I had backache, and was very weak. I tried several doctors, but they did me no good. I used Cardui for 3 or 4 months, and now I am in the best health I have ever been. I can never praise Cardui enough." It is the best tonic, for women.

Whether seriously sick, or simply weak, try Cardui.
